

WEIS CERAMICS

Agnieszka Weis is a potter exploring shapes and textures in porcelain. She focuses mainly on tea ware, because she finds its rich history and ritualism truly inspiring.

Years of experience in product design gave her an ability to create forms that are carefully detailed, comfortable to hold and easy to use.

Her most important tool are her hands. They give objects their shapes, leaving subtle marks perpetuated by fire. These little gestures are often the only decoration, highlighted by the simplified form. It's very important for her how the work feels like, not only how it looks. She decided to work with clay because it's an unusual natural material that changes its qualities during the process. It requires a lot of learning, while being a great teacher of humility. And transforming a ball of mud into a shiny, detailed piece is pure magic.
